download - no where to buy zyrtec online india ioria: k11: I think I have the idea, I will try to find a way to get the sound back with it, I have recorded before it happened and it was sound-like looks like deja-dup wants to use the full disk encryption i created - i don't want it to encrypt my /home, is there a way to only encrypt /? pity: its because the /dev/dsp is not linked to the right kernel module. so when the user disables the userspace with sudo/pkexec/whatever the module is no longer loaded and the program can not run Skid, you could symlink /home to /home.encrypted or something pbx: ok, i've got some work to do - thanks for the suggestion, i'll keep it in mind. pity: so you need to know what device file is used as /dev/dsp. but the program loads the sound system (alsa, pulseaudio etc) i presume it needs to be a ~1Mb file? k11: I've seen that in other programs, they can switch between those Skid: 1MByte is not a lot. but i would not suggest to make a symlink on the disk. pity: there is a way to do it but they usually put that into the main program. k11: so you reckon theres no way to do it within the 'encrypt my home directory' process? Skid: i would suggest a lot of reading. Skid: and why do you want to encrypt your /home at all? you need the full disk encryption for / just for my data, i'd rather have it all safe and sound on a single device - so less chance of it getting nicked, plus the encrypted drive can be used by any machine with the correct key. k11: yes, for example in GIMP you can disable the sound plugin and use an external recorder Skid: i 82157476af
